

“Affordability of an eDiscovery solution is an important issue for many of our clients. We found Lexbe to be an excellent value, providing the features our clients need at a good value. Lexbe is easy-to-use, requires little training, and because it is cloud-based it is accessible by all parties from any location.”

Jeff Mitchell
Of Counsel

Lukas, LaFuria, Gutierrez, and
Sachs

Background

Technological innovation redefines the telecom industry on a regular basis and significantly outpaces state and federal regulatory structures. As a result telecom providers face increasingly complex legal challenges.

The attorneys and engineers of Lukas, LaFuria, Gutierrez and Sachs (LLGS) are solely focused on the wireless industry. Their expert guidance enables their clients to navigate within the rapidly evolving, complex and sometimes Byzantine regulatory framework of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and other federal, state and local telecommunications laws.

Lawyers, law firms, and regulated companies engaged in FCC and telecommunications-related administrative actions and litigation must deal with a number of specific legal challenges. These administrative actions and cases can involve many documents, sometimes in the millions. Time frames for review, response, civil investigative demands (CIDs), and other actions can be very short requiring intense legal work in a limited time frame. Added to that, legal and regulatory requirements may be complex, new and untested legally, and unclear. Finally, often the matters are very serious for clients, and sometimes ‘bet the company’ litigation.

Case Situation

Meeting FCC and other telecom regulatory requirements is one legal area where LLGS often assists telecom carriers to avoid or if needed defend actions and litigation that can lead to costly regulatory violations or damages.

Where necessary, LLGS works through the enforcement process to minimize adverse findings. FCC subpoenas can often require a subpoenaed company or person to collect, process, search, tag, and privilege review massive amounts of ESI in a short period of time. In many of these cases submission deadlines are just 30 days.

To meet these tight deadlines LLGS realized they needed an eDiscovery solution that was fast, easy-to-use, required little training, and was accessible from any location.

Contact us at 800.401.7809 x22, or sales@Lexbe.com to get a free consultation or demonstration. Let us help you manager large document-intensive cases and your eDiscovery needs.

Result:

Lukas, LaFuria, Gutierrez, and Sachs has been able to meet extremely tight deadlines and better serve their clients by using Lexbe's eDiscovery Platform and Professional Services team.

Solution

Lukas, LaFuria, Gutierrez, and Sachs selected Lexbe as their eDiscovery platform and complex document management services provider because it met their requirements for speed, ease-of-use and features, in addition to being more affordable than the competing solutions they evaluated.

"Lexbe provided the best set of features we could find in the market, and allowed us to get up to speed quickly which was important for us to meet some very tight deadlines." said Jeff Mitchell, attorney at LLGS.

LLGS has appreciated the robust remote access capabilities of the Lexbe platform. Lexbe's cloud-based platform is easily accessed via a web browser and is compatible with Windows, Macintosh, Android and iPhone systems. This enables attorneys and staff to work from either their offices, home, clients' locations, and while traveling, resulting in increased productivity, time savings, and reduced frustration generally. "That's a big benefit for us," said Jeff Mitchell, "Allowing us to review and access documents easily and quickly from any location."

LLGS has also been pleased with Lexbe's services and support. Lexbe's Professional Services team assisted LLGS attorneys as needed in a number of matters, including responsiveness and privilege searches and tagging/coding, ESI and eDiscovery reports, subpoena technical requirements, and other litigation support matters, all under extremely tight deadlines to prepare for depositions enforcement civil investigative demands/CIDs. "Even on weekends and at odd hours, Lexbe's Professional Services team has always been available and accessible and responsive to our needs in a timely fashion," said Jeff Mitchell. "Lexbe is very easy to work with and always helpful."

Find out more at: Lexbe.com

Contact us at 800.401.7809 x22, or sales@Lexbe.com to get a free consultation or demonstration. Let us help you manager large document-intensive cases and your eDiscovery needs.